PRESIDENT TO SIGN LARGEST REVENUE BILL IN HISTORY

To Affix His Signature Before Midnight So Excise Taxes Will Be Effective Nov. 1st

5% VICTORY TAX

Will Be Deducted From Pay Checks Starting January 1st

By William L. Umstead
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—President Roosevelt today signs the largest revenue measure in American history—the $8,000,000,000 tax bill under which 35,000,000 persons will be required to pay Federal taxes for the first time.

The President intends to sign the huge tax bill, passed by Congress yesterday, before midnight in order that excise taxes—levies on commodities, especially liquors—may go into effect November 1st.

The drastic measure contains still increases in rates of regular income taxes on individuals and corporations and a new five percent victory tax. In

An Antique Dealer Sues An Antique Dealer

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 21—David Y. Ellinger, well-known Collegeville antique dealer and artist, is plaintiff in an action for $25,000 damages, against Mrs. Estella V. Neel, Doylestown antique dealer, now being heard in Civil Court before a jury in Judge Calvin S. Boyer's court.

Ellinger is suing on grounds of malicious prosecution and false imprisonment.

The plaintiff was arrested in December, 1941, and taken before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, at Edison, where he was charged with "fraudulent conversion," with having feloniously obtained a certain antique corner cupboard and other antique furniture from her.

The plaintiff was detained in prison for several hours, and was held under $800 bail, for a hearing on January 6th, 1942.

At the January 6th hearing, Ellinger was bound over for the Grand Jury for February sessions, 1942, charged with fraudulent conversion.

The bill of indictment was ignored by the Grand Jury and no true bill of indictment found on charges lodged by Mrs. Neel, against Ellinger.

Ellinger alleges that by reason of the charges, his reputation has been and is greatly injured.

Mrs. Eleanor Reed, Green street, Germantown, an antique dealer, and her daughter, Dorothy, testified that they bought two corner cupboards from Ellinger and that Mrs. Neel called them on the telephone and threatened them both with arrest for receiving stolen goods, declaring also that she (Mrs. Neel) was going to have Ellinger arrested too.

Mary Law, of 62 Second avenue, Collegeville, testified that she has known Ellinger since he was 12 years old, and that she has known Mrs. Neel for four years.

"Mrs. Neel came to our house often and would stay three or four days at a time," Miss Law testified. "She even brought her parrot along on one trip," Miss Law added.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANEED BY REPORTERS

Believed to be temporarily deranged as the result of a lengthy illness, Thomas Dougherty, 71, attempted to end his life in Bucks County Prison on Friday evening.

Given a safety razor with which to shave himself in his cell, Dougherty, who was committed to the prison on a charge of vagrancy, in the presence of two guards, Ross Naylor and James Reilly, quickly removed the blade and slashed himself across the throat. The gash was about an inch deep and at least four inches long.

The guards grabbed the blade and rushed the man to the dispensary, where as the result of the loss of a large amount of blood, he lapsed into an unconsciousness. Dr. John J. Sweeney was summoned, but in the meanwhile Mr. William L. Handy, a trained nurse living at the prison, administered first aid.

Upon his arrival at the prison, Dr. Sweeney directed that the man be taken to the Abington Hospital, where he was given several blood transfusions.

Amateur photography was discussed at the meeting of the Perkasie Lions Club last week, by Winton Lewis, whose talk was illustrated with photographs of his own handiwork.

He briefly recounted the history of the development of photography, and told his audience that next to stamp collectors rank photography enthusiasts as hobbyists.

He sketched the several steps that lead to a full-fledged enthusiast.

Preparing for an election of officers which will take place in four weeks, the members of the Plumsteadville Grange, last week named their candidates.

Miss Mary O'Neill Is Honor Guest at Shower

Miss Mary O'Neill, Bristol R. D. 1, was tendered a variety shower at the Knights of Columbus home, Monday evening by Mrs. Daniel Roche and Mrs. Joseph Coughlin.

The tables were decorated in pink and white. An umbrella was suspended from the ceiling, with gifts placed beneath it. Favors were pink and blue rosebud name cards were at each place. Refreshments were served. Music and dancing followed.

About 35 were in attendance.

GENERAL MARTIN URGES CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES AS BACKLOG TO MEET FUTURE DEMANDS OF WAR

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 21—Conservation of Pennsylvania's natural resources as a backlog to meet the future demands of war was urged here last night by General Edward Martin, Republican nominee for Governor, who warned against promiscuous waste of "our natural riches of timber, coal and oil."

In his address, General Martin said: "Pennsylvania is rich in great outdoor recreation, hunting and fishing areas. It is rightly interested in the conservation of its natural resources, its oil and coal, its forests, its streams and its wild-life. Even in total and desperate war such things are important. We must not forget the demands

131 TEACHERS LEFT POSITIONS SINCE JULY 1ST IN COUNTY

Number Does Not Include Bristol, Bensalem Twp. Or Morrisville

Seven Teachers Left For Better Positions In Industrial Plants

One hundred and thirty-three teachers left their teaching positions in Bucks County since July 1. These figures do not include Bristol Borough, Bensalem Township, or Morrisville Borough. Seventy-one teachers left for better teaching positions in other school districts, some of which were in Bucks County. Seventeen women teachers were married and decided to stop teaching. Ten teachers left because they were not considered successful in their position. Eight men entered the military or naval service. Seven teachers left for a better position in industrial plants. Six teachers resigned because they could not commute to their schools because of poor tires or lack of other transportation means. Five teachers were released on maternity leaves, two on Civilian Defense Leaves, two on sick leaves, and one on Sabbatical Leave. Three teachers retired. One teacher left for more education.

Seven new vacancies were reported in the first two weeks in October, most of these have been filled by temporary substitutes. Three teachers were elected by school boards in the same period, but declined to accept the positions offered to them. School boards are generally insisting upon sixty-day notices before releasing teachers.

BENSALEM STUDENTS TO PRESENT 3-ACT PLAY

First Dramatic Offering of the Season To Be Given Friday Night

"CALL OF THE BANSHEE"

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 21—Friday night Bensalem residents will get the thrill of their lives when they attend the first dramatic offering of the Bensalem Township High School. The younger members of the student body are presenting the three-act mystery melodrama by W. D. Hepstall and Ralph Cullinan entitled "The Call of the Banshee." It is a hilariously funny "spook" play designed for laughs and chills.

Included in the cast are local school thespians who have proved their out-

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 21—Forcing a sash-lock on a classroom window during the night, a thief or thieves entered Bensalem Township high school building, and made a getaway with such loot as silverware, tools, etc.

The theft occurred between 11 o'clock last evening, when the building was closed following a school rehearsal, and this morning when the janitress arrived.

Silverware, including settings for approximately 125 places, was taken from the cafeteria. From the janitor's room, such tools as a desk sander, electric drill, wrenches, etc., were stolen.

The safe in the room used by the board of directors on the first floor was also forced in some manner. Whether any papers are missing therefrom has not been determined yet, school authorities not searching the

4-H Club Is Formed at Falls P. T. A. Meeting

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 21—The meeting of Falls Township Parent-Teacher Association was held in Fallsington school house, Wednesday evening.

The principal topic of discussion was the formation of the 4-H Club. William Greenawalt, Bucks County farm agent, was the speaker. He outlined plans for the formation of the club.

Frank Chestnut was appointed leader for the boys, and Miss Norma Force, home economics teacher, was appointed leader for the girls.

Final plans were made to hold a card party on November 6th, in Fallsington Community Hall.

The showing of a motion picture entitled "Hidden Hunger," concluded the meeting.

Women Continue To Make Dressings at Eddington

EDDINGTON, Oct. 21—With a total of 650 sponges, 4x1 inches, and 300 abdominal pads, 7x10 inches, completed to date, women of this area are now busy making 1,000 sponges, 2x2 inches, for blood donors.

The work is advancing under instruction of Mrs. Arthur Roberts, Mrs. A. B. Stiles, Mrs. A. H. Haenchen, Mrs. Albert Thompson, and Mrs. C. Burnley White; and attendance at the sessions on Thursdays from 10 to three o'clock has now reached 23. The women gather in Christ Church parish house.

It was in August that the above-mentioned women, together with Miss Gladys Connelly and Mrs. P. G. Mack, received instruction in the making of surgical dressings in Philadelphia. The work has advanced well since that time. Mrs. Mack is the packer of the dressings.

All women who can do so are invited to participate in the work. They are asked to give as many hours as possible on Thursdays, each taking a pair of scissors and a sandwich, and wearing a white dress.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

Flash—OWI finds some U. S. fighting planes good, some bad.

Flash—that isn't telling the enemy anything he doesn't know.

Flash—now we can stop expecting miracles.

The OWI's plane report was the biggest burst of frankness since the Siamese twins admitted they were brothers.

Our planes have been overrated by some experts and underrated by some others. The OWI just rated them.

There is no use telling a woman in tight shoes that her feet look pretty.

The OWI admitted that some U. S. planes have faults. More important, it said that the faults were being corrected.

That is as right as a square hat on a square hat rack.

We cannot be stirred into an argument when the truth is on both sides.

In the event of frankness we leave our umbrella of doubt at home.

If thought for the day: The truth feels good even when it hurts.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

A Wilkie Opportunity

Washington, Oct. 20. NOW that Mr. Wendell Wilkie is home, it is to be hoped that he speedily will get off his chest whatever it is he wants to tell the American people of what he discovered in the thirteen countries he visited and give some attention to the situation here in Washington. For here there is, perhaps, a greater chance to aid in winning the war than was afforded by all his recent thrilling experiences.

WHAT the domestic situation needs is a strong opposition leader, whose support our foreign policies cannot be questioned; who can command attention when he speaks and who cannot be brushed off in any of the various ways by which the Administration has been brush-ing off its critics. The current White House technique is to refer to any one who suggests that everything is not going well, as "impeding the war effort."

THAT is the President's own phrase—but it is being echoed all down the Administration line. If, by this method, they can shut up everybody except the White House choir of press agents, a long-sought goal will have been achieved. But the results will not be happy for the country. There, then, will be no one to point out the many obvious sins of omission and commission inherent in any war effort, but with which this war effort is saturated beyond precedent. As President Wilson said, the only way in which competency can be pre-promoted is through criticism. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, has expressed his appreciation of the value of criticism, but that has not prevented him from resenting it nearly every time it has been offered.

RECENTLY his resentment has

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

CAMP LEE, Va., Oct. 21—Dominic S. Manzo, of 1106 Beaver street, Bristol, Pa., has been graduated from the Officer Candidate Course at the Quartermaster School here and has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army of the United States.

The Quartermaster School graduates more than 1200 Officer Candidates a month after a three months' intensive 23 subject course in basic military and Quartermaster technical operations. Candidates for the school are picked by boards throughout the Army and their selection is based upon their initiative, military aptitude, intelligence, prior civilian experience and their record to date in the Army.

Upon receiving his commission Lt. Manzo was called to immediate active duty.

Tokyo Names Americans They Claim Captured in Tokyo Raid

London—Four American airmen whom the Japs claimed to have captured in the raid on Tokyo were named today in a Tokyo radio broadcast by the official Japanese news agency, Domei.

Tomokazu Hori, Japanese press spokesman, is said to have refused to explain what was meant by the term "severely punished" in a previous government announcement threatening reprisals against captured Allied airmen. "Judging from the proclamation," the Japanese spokesman was quoted as saying, "it includes death and other penalties."

Well-Known Bucks County Peddler Dies

SWEDEN'S SPOT

The ship of Swedish neutrality at last is rocking, and whereas both sides chose to preserve that neutrality in the First World War because Sweden was a willing go-between, this time the turn of the wheel indicates logical action soon in Norway, Sweden's Scandinavian twin.

Until now the Germans have kept their legions, though not their Gestapo and their spies, out of a Sweden capable of supplying them with high-grade iron ore and with wood from which numerous synthetics are being made. The practical Swedes have sent to Germany most of their wartime exports. Anything to prevent occupation, said the Swedes.

Swedish business men were adept enough at professions of friendship to convince the Germans that they hated the English, feared the Russians and looked down on the Norse. Moreover, some of Sweden's business leaders undoubtedly have harbored Fascist hopes, although the state Socialism of Sweden has long been in an advanced stage.

Now the Allies are getting so much material and so many trained men in the British Isles that the Germans are sure a second front or some sort is imminent. Yet Berlin cannot understand how, as yet, the Allies would risk an invasion attempt in France, Norway, then, might be the scene of a new western front. Sweden would promptly be overrun by the Germans in order to fence off a Russian far-north drive to the westward.

At least in pretense of a resistance, the Swedes have expanded their army to 600,000 and are staging extensive anti-landing and air maneuvers. The German propaganda machine has started blasting at Sweden as "red" and antagonistic.

Yet are the military leaders of Sweden really willing to fight Germany, and do they not actually plan for a military coup d'etat that would deliver up Sweden as Finland and Hungary and Rumania were delivered to Berlin? Meanwhile the Norse are continuing their rugged and far more honest course of all-out opposition to their German oppressors.

Mayor "Butch" LaGuardia of New York has endorsed the American Labor Party candidate for governor, which is another break for Dewey, who feared that the mayor might support him.

Justice Murphy, who sees no disunity in Detroit, is sticking to the stance he took when, as governor during the sit-down strikes, he could see none.

The meeting, attended by about 60 persons, was featured also by a spelling bee, in which Doris High, a member of the juvenile Grange, proved to be the champion.

During the evening one applicant for membership was received. Members were informed that the fifth degree will be conferred upon a class of candidates at a special meeting which will be held in the Grange hall, at Plumsteadville, on Saturday evening, October 31st. A meeting of the sewing circle is scheduled to be held in the Grange hall on Thursday, October 22nd.

No program will be presented at the next meeting on Friday evening, October 30th, but instead a masquerade party will be held.

With Mrs. Raymond Steeley in charge, a brief program was presented last evening by members of the juvenile Grange. The program was as follows: Singing, "The Wild Rose," essay on wild birds in Bucks county, Mrs. Steeley's game, "The Flower Scramble," and singing, "The Marine Hymn."

With the birth of a daughter, Sandra Louise, to Mr. and Mrs. W. Kenneth Freed, West Chester, Philadelphia, in Grand View Hospital, Sellersville, on Saturday, a line of the fifth generation was established.

In other words, the grandmother of the baby's grandmother is still living.

The generations include the baby's father, who is employed by the Bendix Corporation, Philadelphia; its grandmother, Mrs. Ida M. T. Fluck, well-known rural school teacher in the upper end of the county; its great-grandfather, Edward H. General Martin Urges Conservation To Meet Demands of War destructive lumbering and to the improper, ruthless and wasteful uses of any of our natural resources. This war is cutting deeply into our natural riches of timber, coal and oil and we must practice conservation as we never have in all our history.

"Our sportsmen are a great asset to Pennsylvania. Their money and their energies have built up the fish and game commissions. The funds of these commissions must not be permanently diverted from the uses for which they are collected and ear-marked. Separate organization, financing and administration must continue in the fish, game and forestry departments.

"In these agencies politics must have no part. Men selected for these commissions will be chosen without regard to politics, solely upon the basis of their fitness for these places and after consultation with representative sportsmen of this State. They will be left free to administer the affairs of these commissions free from political interference.

"Should it ever become necessary to establish home defense units like those Great Britain was forced to create to meet invasion we must rely mainly upon our sportsmen. They can shoot. They know how to handle fire-arms. They know the country. They know how to take care of themselves in the open.

"Great Britain, menaced by invasion since Dunkirk and the fall of France in June 1940, believe such defenders will be highly effective. Many of our sportsmen have gone into the armed forces but thousands of veteran riflemen remain. The deer hunters of Pennsylvania know what to do with a high-powered rifle. These rifles do not greatly differ from military rifles and we probably have more deer hunters in this Commonwealth than in any other State in the Union."

been couched in such form as to threaten individual denunciation of his critics. Already this has turned some formerly outspoken radio commentators into fulsome eulogists and is having an effect upon the more timid of the newspaper writers, who realize the great handicap they would be under in any personal argument with a President, particularly a President in wartime. Here is a situation which would appear to offer Mr. Willkie a very fine opportunity for service to the country. Concededly there are many things here which ought to be constructively criticized, yet, faced with personal Presidential resentment, criticism is drying up. Men are becoming mealy mouthed in speaking and writing about the maladministration of the war production machine. There is, for example, a disposition to ignore the extraordinary ineptitude with which the vital problem of man power is being approached and the terrible menace of inflation guarded against—other things.

IT IS a clear understatement to say that in his handling of these things the Administration is feeble. It has shown neither a clear sense of direction nor a determination to grapple with realities. But, whenever a radio commentator or a newspaper columnist has ventured to point out the obvious facts, the White House reaction has been not to change, or more realistic activity. Rather it has been to personally reflect upon the individuals who had the temerity to indict war-management looseness and intimate that the trouble was at the top—where it is. If Mr. Willkie has got the stuff in him—if he has not been taken into camp by Mr. Roosevelt, who certainly made it possible for him to have his recent very wonderful experience but who has no more personal regard for him now than he had in 1940—if he is a real national leader—then Mr. Willkie will cut out these exciting and dramatic trips abroad and settle down to using his influence to force the President toward the essential action needed to save our domestic economic situation.

THE WISDOM of his recent advice to the public to prod their military leaders into launching a second front is open to question. The wisdom of prodding the President to abandon his black list; to stop coddling the labor lobbyists; to face fairly the fearful financial facts, is not open to question. Congress has just passed what is probably the worst tax bill in history. Worst, not in the sense that the taxes are too high, because they are not high enough, but worst in the sense of its basic stupidity, its demagogic political provisions and its inexcusable avoidance of the logical steps. This is a bill, which heads us straight toward economic chaos. There is a chance in the next session of Congress to swing back on the right track. But it will take a very strong and critical opposition to compel the Administration to swing. Nothing Mr. Willkie has done abroad can compare in usefulness to what he could do in compelling this swing. If he now devotes himself wholeheartedly to this cause he will not only serve the national interests but his own as well. If he continues to think only in terms of global military strategy, he will not promote either.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Lord, our God, let thy peace possess our souls, filling us with the inner satisfaction which thou alone canst give. Let us hear the blessed words of Christ, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Guide our feet into thy house, direct our minds toward thoughts of thee, open our hearts for the outpouring of thy spirit. Let us not become confused by the condition of the world, and in our confusion depend upon material strength to procure for us eternal blessings, but let us look unto thee, the author and the finisher of our faith. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

The little known private life of America's most colorful literary genius is the exciting subject of another outstanding biographical film, "The Loves of Edgar Allan Poe," coming to the Grand Theatre today.

Surpassing his own startling stories, the realistic film brings to the screen all of the drama that was Poe's life. Utilizing an unusual method of presentation, it takes full advantage of the story possibilities of America's first and greatest literary genius. Poe's bold mode of life, his struggle for respect in a hostile world and the willingness of women to pay the price for loving him constitute one of the most thrilling true to life stories ever to reach the screen.

'PRETENDERS' IS RIGHT TERM FOR HULKS AFTER CROWN LOUIS HOLDS

By Jack Mahon
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(INS)—Something new has been added to the Cauliflower Crop, known occasionally, in less intimate sets, as the boxing business. Brother Abe Greene, president of the National Boxing Association, has decided now that Sgt. Joe Louis has retired from the ring, for the duration, and probably forever, that his organization will determine a "championship pretender" until the war ends.

A "championship pretender." There, my friends, is a "dilly" as the boys along Jacobs Beach say. Maybe friend Abe thinks he's doing boxing a good turn by coming up with that mystic title but after looking at some of the so-called title-holders who have cluttered up the boxing scene for the past decade, we wish to assure him there have been several "championship pretenders" in the past.

We will not bore you with the names of them all but if Primo Carnera, Max Schmeling and Lew Jenkins—the first three to come to mind—won't give you the idea, nothing else will. Carnera was a synthetic, syndicate champion. Schmeling was the champion of one fighter, Billy Stirling, while Jenkins was the champion crackpot of the last couple of seasons.

Green thinks that the NBA should recognize the winner of a round-robin heavyweight elimination tournament between Bicycle Bob Pastor, Tami Mauriello and Lee Savold as the "championship pretender" to Louis' throne.

This tournament would get under way at Madison Square Garden October 30 when Savold meets Mauriello in a ten rounder. Promoter Mike Jacobs is very pleased with the new publicity touch added to his promotional stew for the fight needs a little expert put-motoring.

Savold, you see, had his ears massaged by a rude gent named Tony Musto in Washington and though he managed to reverse the verdict in a return bout, it didn't do his New York affair with Mr. Mauriello any good.

The latter, an Italian lad who advances and retreats up and down the fistic ladder as often as Gen. Rommel in Egypt, couldn't let Lee steal the notoriety from him and promptly went out to Cleveland to have himself licked by Jimmy Bivins.

Promoter Jacobs thus found himself with a box-office problem. How could he hallyhoo two guys as heavyweight contenders when they were running around losing fights?

We do not think Prexy Greene is concerned over M. Jacobs' problem and we don't think he realized the beautiful, artistic applicability of his streamlined new heavyweight classification.

"Championship pretender." Wow! We love it!

P. S.—The boys should put up a good fight and we think Mauriello has enough of a punch to win a close decision. It doesn't figure to result in a knockout for both lads are rugged and determined to be "pretenders" even if they weren't contenders for Sgt. Louis' halo.

CARRYING ON By Jack Sands

and 40 percent of that paid by married persons will be returned at the end of the war.

The measure increases the normal tax rate on individual incomes from four to six percent and boosts surtaxes on the first $2,000 of net income from six percent to 13 percent.

Under the bill, a single person earning $700 next year will be required to pay total taxes of $49 and an individual drawing $1,000 must pay taxes totaling $107.

A single person receiving $1,200 in 1943 will pay Federal taxes of $153 and one who earns $1,500 must give the Government $229 in taxes. If a single person is paid $2,000, he will owe taxes of $333 while if he makes $2,500 his taxes will be $446. The single man's income of $3,000 will cost him $574 in taxes, and if he earns $4,000 he pays $829 and on $5,000 he will pay taxes of $1,105.

Married persons with no dependents must pay taxes of $15 on a $1,000 income, $21 on earnings of $1,200 and $79 for drawing $1,500. But a married person's taxes shoot up when his income is $2,000 and he must pay a levy of $188. If he earns $3,000, the Federal taxes amount to $405, and when his salary totals $4,000 his taxes will be $647. A married person without dependents must pay a levy of $894 on an income of $5,000.

A married person with two dependents will be taxed $14 on his $1,000 income. His taxes on an annual paycheck of $1,200 are $20 and earnings of $1,500 draw a tax of $29. The taxes to be paid the Federal Government on $2,000 earned by a person married with two dependents total $58 and he must pay $267 if his salary is $3,000 in 1943. Taxes on an income of $4,000 in this case are $485 and on a $5,000 income $730.

A person may claim credit for life insurance and payment of debts instead of having a percentage of the victory tax returned at the conclusion of the war, provided the credit does not exceed the "post-war" return. Business men, who do not receive salaries, will pay their victory tax when they file their income tax returns for the year on March 15, 1944.

Corporation taxes were increased, but the normal tax rate was left at 24 percent. The surtax rate on the first $25,000 was raised from 7 to 10 percent and a sliding scale increase was provided between $25,000 and $50,000. Excess profits taxes were increased to 80 percent of a corporation's profits.

Taxes on whiskey were increased 50 percent, on beer 17 percent, on cigars from 33 to 50 percent, and on long distance telephone calls 50 percent.

While the huge revenue measure brings the total annual federal tax bill to approximately $26,000,000,000, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has already given notice that he wants another revenue bill to raise an additional $6,000,000,000. Members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which must originate all tax measures, say, however, that they do not plan to act on Morgenthau's request until the first of the year.

Bensalem Rotarians Hear Of Mechanics of Thinking

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 21—"The Nature of Human Nature" was the subject upon which Herman Whitmeyer, professor of English and public speaking at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, based his talk before Bensalem Rotarians last evening at the club's dinner session.

Dr. Whitmeyer, whose address was marked by excellent diction, and who held the keen attention of Rotarians, dealt with the idea that man is a riddle. He considered chiefly in his discourse the mechanics of thinking, this subject being divided into types of thinking. These included—Reverie, in which man is usually the hero of his own imagination; the making of decisions, or "judicial" thinking; rationalizing, in which one thinks in order to justify himself or his acts; and creative or inventive thinking, termed "the most desirable or productive type." The speaker listed creative thinking as that which prompts and promotes progress.

He analyzed current leaders throughout the world, such as Roosevelt, Willkie, Hitler, and others, and considered parts of their outstanding speeches, showing their thought trends which lead to their popularity with different groups.

Many questions were asked of Dr. Whitmeyer following his address. He was introduced by Dr. Edgar Beckes, of Cornwells Heights, program committee chairman for the local club, and a graduate of the college of which the speaker is a staff member.

S. Penn Salmon presided during the general dinner session.

Mrs. Patton told the chair that management of the Bristol Theatre and of the Grand Theatre had donated placards for advertising coming events held by the association throughout the area.

Walter Gillette, president, asked parents to send the name, date, and entry of their boys who have joined the armed forces to Box 17, Newportville, that such names may be placed in the honor roll box which the association will erect in the near future. All young men enlisting while residing in Newport, Newport Terrace, Flushing and surrounding territory are eligible for enrollment.

Mr. Gillette said the information center heads told him they need a commander and hope that a responsible person not connected with any other defense unit will offer his services at the next meeting of the Citizens' Defense Association.

standing ability in past productions. John Diamond, whose comedy interpretations in "Hans Brinker," "Penrod" and "The Dizzy Baton," has firmly established himself as an actor-comedian, will depart from his usual type of role to take the part of the romantic lead, Clem. William James Foster, Jr., remembered for his work in "Hans Brinker," "The Witch's Curse" and "Bellapoppin'" will be seen as the half-wit and deaf Timothy Scott. Edward Johnston, who has a long record of successes to his credit, including "Penrod," "The Six Who Passed White the Lentils Boiled," "Hans Brinker," "Why the Chimes Rang" and "Minikin and Manikin," will depart from the usual juvenile characterizations which he has portrayed so skillfully in the past. In this production he will be seen as Yuru, the faithful Indian servant of the mystic, Dr. Lacey, the latter role being interpreted by Penn Salmon, who established himself as an actor of definite merit as the cantankerous Dr. Boekman in "Hans Brinker."

Catherine Malloy will be seen as the vicious old Mrs. Grimes, while other parts will be essayed by Cecelia Julliff, Edna Mae Fortnum, Pearl Perry, Natalie Koplin, Shirley Boyd, Marie Gebicke, Joseph Lechtenegger, James Carson, James DeGour and Charles West.

Air Raid Wardens and Emergency Policemen:

You Air Raid Wardens and Emergency Police are doing a fine job.

You are working for the protection of others, and to safeguard the property of others.

You realize your responsibility to the community and are conscious of the fact that you may be called upon to render service not to your liking; but a service which in European countries has proven to be of inestimable value.

There are critics who are standing on the sidelines.

Some of these critics laugh at the efforts you are putting forth.

They laugh at air-raid drills and blackout tests. They seem to think that it is all a joke.

When asked to help, their reply is: "Oh, I'm not interested. Can't you get someone else? I'm terribly busy." Many so answering have never been known to take much interest in community affairs. They were never the ones who would join in and help put over a project for the benefit of the community. They were generally to be found on the sidelines, not cheering but razzing. Their razzing was perhaps in a jocular manner but they appeared to be endeavoring to belittle the movement.

Every community has this type of resident. Their scope of interest is rather narrow and they are self-satisfied.

But, Mr. and Mrs. Air-Raid Warden and Emergency Policeman, you have recognized your duty to your community and to your fellow man.

Don't let the scoffers dissuade you. Work all the harder so that when the time comes, and pray God that time will never come, you will be prepared to render a service to all mankind.

safe until it is examined by police authorities for fingerprints.

The school office was ransacked and material scattered about, but nothing is believed missing from that room.

It is stated that entrance was gained by prying a window and thus breaking a sash-lock in one of the classrooms. When Mrs. Frank Shaw, janitress, arrived at seven o'clock this morning, she discovered the theft, and notified school authorities who summoned police.

Powder scattered when an attempt was made to force the safe, was tracked over the floor by the intruder or intruders.

It is stated that no money is kept in the safe, it being used for storage of records.

Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo, and Sergeant Kelly of Penna. Motor Police, South Langhorne barracks, are investigating the case.
